ABSTRACT

Office of Manpower and Transmigration, West Java, located at Ave. Soekarno Hatta no. 532 Bandung, is a government agency working in the field of Manpower and Transmigration of the Republic of Indonesia, especially West Java province. Problems that occurred in the Office of Manpower and Transmigration of West Java which is the process of recording data report on the employee still do it manually.

Researchers using descriptive analytical research design types of academic research design, descriptive research methods, types of research methods using survey methods, sources of primary and secondary data, using a waterfall development structure.

In this design the system fittings made of context diagram, data flow diagrams, entity diagrams and flowmap Relationship. The system will be made of the data recording process of employees, the design is expected to improve the system running, and can overcome the problem is happening.

Keywords: design, information systems, personnel