ABSTRACT

Gasibu Cell is one company that specialized in mobile phone sales, the sales process in Gasibu Cell still not optimal, due to customer ordering process must come directly to the destination. The research objective is to find writers who run the system, design and implement information systems and sales bookings in Gasibu Cell. This will greatly affect the continuity and the smooth running of orders and sales of mobile phones in Gasibu Cell. From the outcome of this study of the application programs that may help with making Gasibu Cell System Order Information.

Research method used is prototype method and the method of system development, when the current stage there are deficiencies in the previous stage may be additions or repairs immediately without having completed the final stage first. The software used is Windows XP SP3 as an operating system, Apache as the web server, MySQL-Front as a database, and Macromedia Dreamweaver 8 as a layout editor and the writing of PHP files and HTML.

Reservation and information system which made sales expected to maximize product sales Gasibu Cell and facilitate consumers in an order and process cash payments by using inter-account transfer system.

Keyword : Reservation, Prototype Method, Analyze