CHAPTER IV

CONCLUSIONS AND SUGGESTIONS

4.1 Conclusions

I can conclude that the translation is very useful in broadcasting at RRI Bandung. At RRI, translation is used to translate the press review and news script that will be used in English program such as English Service Program, and English news. Since I'm a student of English department, I can apply my knowledge in translation by helping the translator of RRI.

I realize that being a good translator is not easy, but it will not be hard if we have good skills in translation, especially in guessing the meaning of the context of sentence because every sentence is restricted by its context. The context is used to guess the meaning.

I also conclude that the important things to have good news are good news script and good press review. One of the activities in making news script and press review is translating. It was begun with analyzing the text; then we have to find the meaning of the text and transform the meaning (semantics structure) of the source language into the meaning of the target language equivalently. If we can follow all the steps, the information that is conveyed in news will be understood easily by the listeners.

4.2 Suggestions

4.2.1 Suggestions for Unikom

I have some suggestions to Unikom. There are:

a. Before doing the job training, all students must be given knowledge about how to make a job training proposal.
b. The committees of job training have to be more active. They have to coordinate with the institutions in which the students do job training so that, they can monitor their students. It is aimed to know the whole activities of the students there. Besides, if the students do not really do the job training, they can get the information from the institutions.

4.2.2 Suggestions for RRI

I have some suggestions for English Service Program (ESP), as follows:

a. It will be better if English Service Program (ESP) hold an off air some time. The students of junior high school and senior high school can take part in this off air program.
b. The topic should be more interesting so that it can attract a lot of listeners to listen to it.
c. The duration of this program should be longer because the program sometimes is ended while topic is still being discussed.