CHAPTER IV

CONCLUSION AND SUGGESTION

4.1 Conclusion

This Job Training Report tells the readers about the writer's activities during the Job Training. There are so many experiences and new knowledge that the writer got from this Job Training. The advice and suggestion the writer got from the Job Training Coordinator and the school staff improves the writer's knowledge and self confidence.

The writer realizes being a teacher is not easy, because there are so many preparations that have to do. The writer knows that the "Verb Patterns" is not affective to be given to junior high school students, because it needs broad explanations. It is difficult to be understood by the students.

Many students want a comfort situation when they are learning English, the writer conclude that high school students averagely don't want a learning and teaching process giving them a pressure to study hard. They want a new method to deliver a subject by a teacher. As the writer have done before the lesson started, the students were asked to do some exercise for example, game or ask their problem, on the other hand, it creates a good understanding and sense of belonging between the teacher and the students. Usually they are excited to listen the teacher's explanation if the teaching and learning process is started by good way. One of that ways is the teacher have to make a good situation in teaching and learning process, for example, first of all, the teacher ask “up to date” news about students, usually they answer it excitedly , so it can increase their motivation to study.

4.2 Suggestions

4.2.1 To the School

The school should provide a Language Laboratory. It’s important, because that place can be used as place to treat their listening comprehension and an alternative place used to study, especially English. The other advantage is the students get a new experience when they are learning.

4.2.2 To the English Department

The English Department has to make special “Job Description” for students who take Job Training in school. That way is expected to make the students not confuse what to do when they are doing the Job Training. In fact, the topic which is proposed by student has different conception by school institution, because the school institution has own teaching and learning program.
