ABSTRACT

The paper entitled The Comparison of In-Event and Non-Event Live Reporting Processes at RRI Pro-2 Fm Bandung discusses In-Event and Non-Event live reporting processes at RRI pro-2 fm Bandung. This job training was conducted in Radio Republik Indonesia from July 19th 2010 to August 19th, 2010.

The method used in this report is descriptive-comparative method where the taken data are described, explained and compared. The writer did job training in news division as news translator, news reader, and news reporter. However, the analysis is focused on news reporter in the comparison of In-Event and Non-Event live reporting processes at RRI pro-2 Fm Bandung. This analysis is meant to give more knowledge about live reporting by observing three causes; they are the way of preparation, costume, and device.

This report analyzes live reporting since there are differences between In-Event live and Non-Event live reporting. The differences are preparation, costume and device. Thus, this report compares those differences. As long as the writer analyzes the differences, the writer assumes three things; first, in live reporting, the preparation of in-event live reporting is more simple than the preparation of non-event live reporting; second, the costume of non-event live reporting is more simple than the costume of in-event live reporting; third, the devices of in-event live reporting is more complete than the devices of non-event life reporting.

Keywords: news reporting, news reader, news translator, preparation, costume, device.