ABSTRACT

Development of more advanced technologies in the field of computer systems make information has an important role in all areas of management, including the processing data. with the development of the internet is so fast these days that requires every person to obtain information quickly, precisely and accurately.

Andfau tour and travelis engage dintransportation service, established in June of 2010. AndfauTour and Travelis expected to be readyfor meetthe public interest, especially inthe transport sectorcovers information about the scheduled departure time, fare sand ticketing destination and reservation.

System development methods used by the authors is prototype, Flowmap, Diagram Context, Data Flow Diagram and Dictionary Data is used for process design. database design begins with Normalization, Entity Relation Diagram and relation table. Program design is writers to use PHP script and MYSQL. The design of this system is expected to overcome the existing problems that can benefit those who use.

Keywords : Technology, Tour and Travel, reservations