ABSTRACT

" Process Of Interaction Between Parents With Children In Application Use Of Sundanese Language"

(Descriptive Study About Interaction Between Parents With Children In Application Use Of Sundanese Language On The Ethnic Javanese Families Who Live In The City Of Bandung)

By,
Nuraini Oktavia
NIM: 41808069

This Final Paper Under Guidance Of:
Drs. Manap Solihat M.Si.,

This research carried out aims to determine how the Process of Interaction between Parents and Children in Application Use of Sundanese Language. To answer the problem above, the researcher uses subfocus substance of sympathy*,* substance of imitation*,* substance of propulsion and substance of identification*, to measure the research focus.*

The research approach was qualitative. The research method used by descriptive writing. The subject in this research was parents and children from ethnic javanese who were live in the city of Bandung. The sampling technique was using purposive sampling so taken the research informant which consist of nine informants, these are 3 parents and 3 children. Key informants consist of three peoples which is a neighbor of the informants. Collecting data technique in this research carried out by conducting interviewing, observation, study library and internet searching. The data analysis technique was using data reduction, data presentation, as well as drawing conclusions and verification. The result of the research is refer to: 1) substance of sympathy, 2) substance of imitation, 3) substance of propulsion, and 4) substance of identification. Substance of sympathy is occur between parents and children because they have anxiety in Sundanese language. Substance of imitation is occur between parents and children when imitate Sundanese language in their environment. Substance of propulsion in this research is occur from theirselves and the peoples around them. Substance of identification is the using of Sundanese language which used as introduction language in daily use by Javanese ethnic. The researcher has conclution that substance of sympathy, substance of imitation, substance of suggestion and substance of identification are factor which causing those parents and children in Javanese ethnic applied Sundanese language as introduction language in daily use that has purpose to comprehend and played along with others.

The research suggestion, parents and children are study together to used Sundanese language in the right way in order that interaction process effectively and useful for their life and environment.