ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

First and foremost, I am grateful to God for his guidance and protection, all throughout the duration of my stay as a foreign student in Indonesia. His greatness and goodness has seen me through to complete this thesis.

I wish to express my sincere thanks to The Rector of The Indonesian Computer University, Bandung Dr. Ir. H. Eddy Suryanto Soegoto, M.Sc., for providing a wonderful institution, equipped with all the necessary facilities fit to study in and complete my research for my bachelor's degree. In addition, I would also like to extend my sincere gratitude to the International Student Director Prof. Dr. Hj. Umi Narimawati, Dra. SE, M.Se. and the Assistant Director Pak Inta Budi Setya Nusa, SE., M, AK for always being there for the international Students when need arose.

I would also like to extend my sincere thank you to Prof. Dr. H. Denny Kurniadie, Ir, M.Se. The Dean of the Faculty of Engineering and Computer Science for the continuous support in keeping the department running effectively. To Ibu Citra Noviyasari, S.Si, MT, The Head of Department for Information Systems Management, and Ibu Imelda, ST., MT, my Guardian Lecturer (Dosen Wali), I am extremely thankful and indebted to both of you for sharing your expertise, sincere valuable guidance and encouragement towards my studies, up until the completion of my final research thesis.

I am also grateful to all the Lecturers in the Department of Information Systems Management who have taught us from day 1 through to the completion of this final research paper. Furthermore, my gratitude to all the staff of the department of Information Systems Management who are always at our service to make sure our inquiries are met effectively.

I take this opportunity to express gratitude to all of the Department faculty members for their help and support. I would also like to thank my course mates, especially my fellow Papua New Guinean friends for been there always in good times and bad times until finally completing this research thesis.

Last but not the least, I take this opportunity to express my profound gratitude from deep down in my heart to my beloved parents, Mum and Dad, grandparents, and my siblings for their love and continuous support both spiritually and materially. I also would like to thank my Indonesian church family, for always being there when I needed family here in Indonesia.

Finally I extend my sense of gratitude to one and all, who directly or indirectly, have lent a hand in this venture to bring me to where I am today.

Written in Bandung, September 21, 2015

Fred Ogia