ABSTRACT

PT Royal Abadi Sejahtera II is one of company moving in foam distributor sector, in the process of payroll at PT Royal Abadi Sejahtera II still not optimal, because in the process of payroll calculation process and manufacturing details of income is still done by detailing one by one employee attendance data that requires a long time and was sometimes inaccurate calculations, the purpose of writer research is to know the using system to designing, testing and implementation of information system of staffing. The usefulness of this research are expected to speed up the performance of the accounting in performing data processing absences, an employee in filling facilitate attendance and practical knowledge and conceptual contribution to the researchers.

Applying research methods to process various data and information from the company, which leads to the results of research with the goal to be achieved. Development system with waterfall model was built according to design needs, and attention to each stage to be traversed in the development of this system. With software developers NetBeans 6.9.1 and phpMyAdmin as the database from any existing data and information on the system itself.

Software development will further assist each activity and the activity carried out within the company, particularly in data processing and sale. So that corporate management can be more optimally and achieve the desired objectives.

Keywords:
Information systems, payroll, Analyze