ABSTRACT

Hestu Adi Nugroho, The Role of Australia Basic Education Program on Improve The Quality of Basic Education in Indonesia (Case Study : Province of Kalimantan Selatan), Department of International Relation Sciences, Faculty of Social and Political Sciences, Indonesian University of Computer, Bandung, 2009.

This research has explained about how big the Influence of AIBEP can improve the quality of basic education, in period 2006-2008. The improve quality effort by Australia Indonesia Partnership (AIP) on Improve equitable access to higher quality and better governed basic education services. The cooperation framework in AIP that can support the Goverrntment of Indonesia on improve quality and governance of its education system.

The method of this research is using analytical descriptive whereas through the method we able to observe the International Cooperations also the role of International Organizations on improve the quality of education in Kalimantan Selatan.

*The frameworks in this reseach used International Relation Theory, International Cooperation and International Agreement. The methode used Descriptive Analitic with Library Reserch as collecting data. And finally we can get the hypotesis:"If the aid development of education provided through Australia Basic Education Program (AIBEP) could be maximize, so the process to improve the quality of basic education based on four pillars to improve the quality that is improved equitable access to basic education services, improved basic education quality and internal efficiency, improved governance of basic education services, and assured resource mobilisation in the basic education can improve the quality of education of elementary school as according to standard education of national".

The result of this research show that AIBEP had an important role on the improved the quality of education which is shown by the impoved of the success level from every pillars to improve the quality and governance of education system process in Kalimantan Selatan.

Key Words: AIBEP, Quality Education, and Education of elementary school Kalimantan Selatan