ABSTRACT

NEWS ONLINE APPLICATION FOR "GREY MAGAZINE"

by

Yogi Putra Rufiandi
10104162

News Online Application is an application joining between media print by electronic media which can good for supporting various information in Grey Magazine.

News Online Application represent the part of system of information service, what developed to collect, process and keep data or news article so that data or visible the news article return later on the day and earn channelled by as an information which good for.

Exist from development of News Online Application is making of application Komputer capable to deputize designed information system as a whole.

News Online Application able to manage data or news article covering matters in around children SMA and also yield complete report, accurate and always actual to each every activity of children SMA.

Result from scheme of News Online Application indicate that role of computer application in information system of vital importance as supporter in improving quality of information activity in this time.

Application of This News Online made by using Ianguage of pemrograman PHP, and Database Mysql.