ABSTRACT

The rapid advances in science and technology, computerization has penetrated into all the activities of human life that demands maximum effectiveness. The role of computers is very important especially in the company-company, where the use of office computers can assist in data processing and simplify the presentation or making a statement.

Information System Product Sales Domestic Appliances Appear In CV Muncul Jaya is an information system that includes data relating to the sale. Information System Product Sales Domestic Appliances Appear In CV Muncul Jaya, implemented by using Visual Basic 6.0 programming language that uses a structured approach and method development a prototype which can simplify the design in accordance with the requirements.

Information system product sales have been made or designed is expected to result in a sales information system to support effective and efficient passage of aktfitas companies, particularly in parts sales.

Keywords: Information System for Sales, Products, Appliances