ABSTRACT

Day Trans Bandung in doing activity of officer still using record-keeping method in book. Problem that is often faced by officer Day Trans bandung in moth-balls data still in the and pension must look for and opens big book. This thing causes information required to be long time and less maximum. As for purpose of research which writer does in this skripsi to build a software which can support activity information system order n selling ticket in Days Trans Bandung.

System approach method which writer applies that is approach method is structure. System development method which writer applies that is Metode protype, while system analytical method which writer applies that is by using auxiliaries consisted of by Flowmap, Diagram Konteks, Data Flow Diagram (DFD). As for data collecting method which writer does in this skripsi that is primary data source like observation and interview, and secondary data source that is in the form of documentation gotten from book and or documentation from company. And build the software is writer applies programming language VB 6.0 by using Database SQL Server 2000.

Officer information system supporter software in this Day Trans Bandung built for storage of data so that more integrated, and facilitates in making of passenger's data ticket also refound ticket receipt. At last, t can make easier to create selling ticket report.

Keyword : Information system, ordering n selling ticket,Day Trans Bandung.