ABSTRACT

Worked efectiveness of employees is a fenomena or cases that is happened at Balai (PKTKA-SDA) library. Using reliabel library information system is one of the way for developing work efectiveness of employees. The research wis for analyzing theree principal cases, they are library information system, employees work efectiveness, and existence of influence library information system to work efectiveness of library employees at Balai (PKTKA-SDA) .

The research used kualitatif and kuantitatif methode for understanding about library information system used struktural approach (flow map), and for understanding about library information system and employee worked efectiveness at library used criteria of actual score by ideal score. Assegment of datas is used validity assegment by analizing formula product moment' and reliability assegment is used alfa formula, for establishing the validity of hipothesis was used kolerasi, regresi, determinasi and t test, than for processing the datas was used SPSS program 12.0 for windows and Microsoft Office Excel.

The results searching shows that Library information system to work effectiveness of library on performance of employee. It means that system influence are strong, one way and significant to increasing the performance of employee, while the rest influenced by another factor not including in this search. One way it means if using of this system is better, it will also be better for increasing the quality performance of employee.

Keywords: Library, Worked Effectiveness of Employee, and Library Information System.