ABSTRACT

INFORMATION SYSTEM OF INVENTORY CONTROL AT APOTEK MARTANEGARA BASED ON CLIENT SERVER

Apotek Martanegara is a corporation that known for its activation on medicine-merchant. Besides of its sales, at Martanegara Apotek, purchasing is also being an important thing too. Both the process of sales and purchasing, there are a lot of data's which have been processed manually.

From one problems above, we need to analyse so that we get result in found of needed to requirements software. Analysis conducted with analyzing requirement, facility and user required by software. Pursuant to result of analysis, hence designed a software able to handle data processing of inventory control based on client server. Expected by this software will improve performance of each shares, and required information the each shares yielded precisely, quickly and is accurate. So that can support fluency data processing activity in Apotek Martanegara.

This system have the excessive in speed and exact for the data process, besides this system can make the official worker easy for processing data, also can make the official worker to get all required information, and this application make the company easy to control the medicine with the stock.

Key Words: Data, Information, Inventory, System, Apotek.