ABSTRACT

Along with growth of information technology as well as the increasing of activity work and also emulation work in the world of business, computer existence as data processor in the reality have drawn various company, industrial and institute the effort to use and exploit the technological growth of computer, one of them is that is Koperasi Mitra Guru Lakbok Lakbok representing an Institute or Legal body standing based desire to increase society prosperity [of] generally and improve the member prosperity especially.

Problems Koperasi Mitra Guru Lakbok atUnit of Effort Commercial not yet the existence of an information system which can support the activity of sale and goods purchasing well and not yet its integrated data from one shares to other shares. needed by a system which can support the activity of sale and goods purchasing in Unit of Effort Commercial of Partner Koperasi Mitra Guru Lakbok to be acceleration and ambulatory information speed better.

To finish the system to be develop;builded, in this research use the Descriptive method Analysis. Descriptive Analyse that is an research method by depicting precisely data of exist in field later;then compare [it] with the theory-theory going into effect. As for to develop its software use the method of system development Life cycle. Language Pemograman used in scheme of information system of sale and this goods purchasing is Visual application Ianguage of Basic 6.0 and Microsoft SQL Server 2000 for the database.

Buildedly of information system of sale and this goods purchasing is expected can water down Koperasi party specially at Unit of Effort Commercial in conducting process of sale and purchasing barangs to be quicker and efficient the than previous system

Keyword : Information System, system development Life cycle, Co-opperation, Unit of Effort,sales,purchasing.