ABSTRACT

The paper entitled "Steps in Understanding Conversation with Non-Native Speaker who cannot say "r"", shows the result of how to manage the conversation with Non-Native speaker who cannot say "r" in guiding conducted in Job Training at Ministry of Foreign Affairs.

The methods used are descriptive and qualitative. This is conducted through observation, collection, classification and analyzing the data taken. The description focuses on how to get the conversation clearly. This analysis is meant to give the phonetic and vowel information in order to help the writer's problem.

Based on the guiding result, the conclusion gained is that the phonetic and vowel information help the guide to understand about conversation with the tourist who cannot say "r". Thus, this report gives information for the readers to understand sound "r" and to practice these sound in order to pronounce sound "r" so that the conversation in English can be managed well.

Keywords: sound "r", conversation, Phonetic and Vowel Information.