ABSTRACT

INFORMATION SYSTEM OF NUTRITION INSTALLATION IN RSUP DR.HASAN SADIKIN BANDUNG

By

Ade Jamaludin
10105120

Information systems within an organization can be regarded as a system which provides information to all levels within the organization whenever necessary.These systems store, retrieve, change, process and communicate information received by using information system or other system equipment.

General Hospital Center for dr. Hasan Sadikin is an institution engaged in health. As usual, an agency in the health sector, health service factors are effective and of high quality and high optimization is the purpose of that agency. To achieve these objectives, we need a policy on appropriate and accurate strategies in health care. Health field of information systems contained in the Health Development Plan towards Healthy Indonesia 2011.

In one of the existing health development program in the Main Program of Development of Health Policy and Management have a plan about the Health Information System Development. The main goal of this program is the availability of accurate, timely, complete and in accordance with the requirement as an ingredient in the process of decision-making to formulate policy, planning, setting in motion the implementation, control, operation of and assessment of health programs at all levels of health administration.

Keywords: Information Systems, Nutrition information system, Database