ABSTRACT

In this execution of system which walk in Senior High School Nugraha Bandung, at shared arrange effort is not yet optimal, because the system which in using still having the character of manual. With the problems hence aristing various problem especially to registration process, re registration, division of class, division of class sponsor and assessment process. For that, is needed an information system to support decision making in obtaining information activity of optimal academy activity.

Making Academic Information System in Senior High School Nugraha Bandung using a prototype method with data collecting technique by observation and interview, while appliance which is used designing system in the from of Flow Map, Contex Diagram, Data Flow Diagram, and database application development use SQL Server 2000 and language programming Visual Basic 6.0

Built system presented by client server that accessed by several computer. System built has can do validation multiple data registration and student value, causing earns the happening of redudance data. User can access this system in client server to know about information and student value

Keyword : academic, registration, assessment