ABSTRACT

APPLICATION OF E-LEARNING IN LEARNING INTERACTIVE MULTIMEDIA SYSTEM

(case studies : SMP Negeri 9 Cimahi)

By

Galih Ginanjar Sya'bana
10105122

Various new techniques and concepts in teachings have many developed to replace traditional method which only reliing on at one way teachings methods in classes. One of teaching method being growing in a period of present is e-learning. E-learning can assist of instructors in distributed their teachings material without having to reside in class by using internets, this thing can maximize study time in limited class.

Research methodologies which applied in compilation of This end duty is observation, literature study while system development stage apply method waterfall. For designing the application of this applied by structural scheme method that is Data Flow Diagram (DFD), DFD is a method which have becoming standard in industrial for visualisation, design and document software system based on data stream.

With existence of e-learning can assist instructor in submitting all teachings material onlinely so that students not necessarily await at meetings in classes, and can be made by addition discussion media for studying complete not yet Iesson matter and also earning is good as media in submitting and collect duties which in giving.

Key Word: Internet, Online, E-Learning