ABSTRACT

Puskesmas is one of the agencies of government on their activities require accurate, fast, relevant and complete. But the fact that existing data are not yet integrated. This is because the recording is still done the form of documents and archives. So that it causes the report takes a relatively long time and become less effective employee performance, it also slows down the process of delivering data.

In this research, system development method used is a prototype model with the support software used is Visual Basic 6.0 and Sql Server 2000. The end result of this research in the form of information systems Health Center Patient Service made under the procedures in the health center digunakaan Ibrahim Adji Bandung.

Through this research is expected to build an information system services, computer-based health center patients who can cover the deficiencies are and can meet the information needs of the parties Puskesmas.

Key words : information system, puskesmas, prototype.