ABSTRACT

THE INFLUENCE OF COMPANY OPERATIONAL INFORMATION SYSTEM BASED OF INTRANET TO PERFORMANCE EMPLOYEE PRODUCTIVITY ON PT ASTRA HONDA MOTOR JAKARTA

The research was done because against the background by the use of company operational information system based of intranet to performance employee productivity on PT. AHM, to support performance-related information dissemination, communication, database and other functions. This study focused on how much influence this Information System in support of human resource management at PT Astra Honda Motor.

Theories used in the preparation of this study was Agus Mulyanto theory which states that there are five components that play a crucial role in a management information system that is human, hardware, software, data, and network.

The research method used is descriptive method with approach used a qualitative approach, as for the data collection techniques performed in this study is through literature study, field studies and observations and by conducting interviews, and questionnaires. Informants in this study were employees of PT. AHM on the HRD division that uses information systems directly.

Based on the results of research at PT. AHM Jakarta through the application of company operational information system based of intranet is arguably already well underway, which is operational information system based of intranet can help spread information, means of communication between employees, storage of company data / databases, etc.