ABSTRACT

PT. Great Mataram is a company engaged in medical supply chain. The items include OTC and Ethical. PT. Great Mataram base is in Semarang. With rapid developments, the company started to expand and open branch in major city in Indonesia. Such as Bandung, Yogyakarta, Surabaya, Solo, Cirebon, Malang, etc.

Just like other company, PT. Great Mataram always has difficulties. One major challenge nowadays is came from sales person. So many sales person quit and find other job. They demand higher salary. It concerns the company because sales instability can be a major problem. The one solution, to raise their salary is out of option. The company has to find a better and cheaper solution.

System analysis is carried out in the form of analyzing the object need from system that can provide any information which can be implemented into an application program. System development method that used is prototype method, with a modeling tool that is used is UML (Unified Model Language). The software used for making this information system is PHP, MySQL and Adobe Dreamweaver8.

This information system is built with the hope to help the sales person, EDP and managers in performance and can result in the expected information.

Keywords : "Information System Design Of Order in PT. Great Mataram"