EFFECTIVENESS OF INTERPERSONAL COMMUNICATION BETWEEN PARENTS
WITH CHILDREN IN DEVELOPING PERSONALITY CHILD
(A Descriptive Study Effectiveness Interpersonal Communication Between Parents And Children In Developing Personality Child Primary School in Bandung District Coblong*)*

by:
Diah Oktaviani Indah Cahyagi
Nim. 41807065

This research under the guidance,
Melly Maulin P, S. Sos., M.Si.

This study aims to know how the effectiveness of interpersonal communication between parents and children in the developing child's personality. To answer these objectives, then analyzed based on openness, empaty, being supportive, positive attitude, and equality.

This research approach using qualitative research approach with descriptive methods, that is the subject in the study were parents of students in elementary schools in the District Coblong of Bandung. Decision informants drawn from as many as three elementary schools in the District Coblong of Bandung. Data collection techniques used were interviews, observation, documentation, Internet searching and also bibliography study.

The results are generated is the openness that parents should have time with children, communicating and providing and directing attention in a positive direction. A empaty the sensitivity of parents to what is perceived child. Attitudes supportive of encouragement as motivation. Positive attitude is the relationship of parents with children of parents always have a positive attitude, and equality in which the parents never distinguish between forms of communication and attention their children.

The conclusions of this study, namely the proximity of the parents positioned as a friend to a child, felt the sensitive feelings of children, has always been the biggest motivation of children, having an attitude that believes, and children are always applied fairly, so that children feel comfortable with parents and children grow developed into a positive personality and achievement.

For that researchers suggest to parents to engage with interpersonal communication, with a touch of affection for the child's personality can be developed in a positive direction.