ABSTRACT

Edoardo Antonius Andre Mote. 44306026. The Influence of Support of Venezuela to Fuerzas Armadas Revolucionaries de Colombia (FARC) toward Bilateral Affairs between Bolivarian Republic of Venezuela and Republic of Colombia. Department of International Relation. Faculty of Social and Political Science. Computer University of Indonesia.

The main issues which are turning down bilateral relation between Venezuela – Colombia has two dimension. They are ideology and political interest that pursued on bilateral and regional stages. Ideologically, Venezuela is opponent to Colombia. Venezuela is Socialism under Chavez's regime and Colombia is Liberal- Capitalist for years. Trigger that decreasing relation between two countries is support of Venezuela to Insurgent Group of Colombia, Fuerzas Armadas Revolucionaries de Colombia (FARC).

This thesis describe the impact of support from Venezuela to Insurgent Group, FARC (when Chavez has been in charge as a President) toward his bilateral relation with Colombia. Research method use literature study and library research.

This Research yield several of proofs about support Venezuela to FARC, they are : financial assistance, armed assistance, provide safe haven and diplomatic assistance. When those proofs has revealed in 2008, crisis was taking place between two countries. Bilateral relation crisis like recall ambassador in both side, boarder crisis that signed with face to face armed force between Venezuela and Colombia and the threat of regional security because of the plan from Colombia that consider to increase numbers of personnel and armed equipment from AS into that Country.

Keyword : Foreign Affairs, Internal Conflict, Insurgent Group