Violence and sexual harassment cases at elementary school children increasingly rife. Sexual exploitation of children under age fact, also still common and is done by those closest to the victim's family even by themselves. Based on KPAI note that from January to August or the first half (2014), the number of sexual assault on a child as much as 784 cases. That means an average of 129 children are victims of sexual violence every month and 20% of children are victims of pornography.

Given the number of cases, hence the parents are required to start giving sex education to children. But most of them still feel taboo and confused how to deliver it. Thus, in the end the child does not learn about sex from their parents.

Therefore, the design aims to create an information media as an infrastructure that can help make it easier for parents to provide education about sex by age and stage of child development, especially for grades 5-6 elementary school. The selected media is illustrated book for children. With the illustrated book is expected that parents no longer feels taboo and confused when they have to explain sex to children.
