ABSTRACT

This skripsi entitled "Hyphenated Compound Adjective in the Jakarta Post" shows the result of how hyphenated compound adjective formed by kind of morphological units and shows what kind of meaning relations found in hyphenated compound adjective. The methods used are descriptive analytic. This is conducted through collection, classification and analysis to the data taken. The analysis focuses on how the morphological units are formed and how it contributes in meaning-making process. This analysis is meant to break down the morphological units and their meaning relations in the hyphenated compound adjectives. Based on result, the conclusion gained is that the most compound adjective are formed by noun-adjective (NA) with meronym and hyponym relation, adjective-adjective (AA) with antonym and hyponym relation, prefix-adjective (PA) with associative and hyponym relation, adjective-noun (AN) with associative and hyponym relation, and adverb-adjective (Adv-A) with associative relation.

Keyword : hyphenated compound adjective, morphological units, meaning relations.