ABSTRACT

Analysis of Effect of Tax Billing And Mail And Forced Tax Implications Of Tax At KPP Regional Acceptance Jawa barat 1

The research was conducted in 10 tax services offices in the region west of Java 1. The purpose of this study are to (1) knowing how to tax collection, letters of forced taxes, and tax revenue. (2) To find out how much influence the tax collection and tax forced letter of tax revenue, both partial and simultaneous.

The method used in this research is descriptive method verifikatif using quantitative and qualitative approaches. The sampling technique in this study is to use the census method. The unit of analysis in this study were 10 LTO Region 1 West Java. While analyzing the data using regression linear . Testing the hypothesis in this study using the test statistic T and F statistical tests with SPSS 18.0 for Windows.

Based on the results of research showed that the test T (partial) indicates that each variable is the tax collection has a positive and significant impact on tax revenues. And variable taxes and forced the letter but no significant effect on tax revenue. The results of the F test (Simultaneous) shows the forced collection of taxes and tax letters together have a positive and significant impact on tax revenues amounting to 60.3%.

Keyword: Tax Collection , Forced Tax Letter , Tax Revenue