ABSTRACT

CV. IntanMulia is a company active in the development and management of Natural Resources, and Human Resources, in the field of Engineering & Procurement Services Materials, in order to support the development and growth of development in the field of Mine Exploration (Minerals Industry, Minerals and materials), sound environment, also in the field of technical Services Geological engineering (soil investigations) notwithstanding any regulations made national and local governments also can provide benefit for human life in general.

Information system that will be created using the programming language PHP, Macromedia Dreamweaver software, Sublime Text 2 and MySQL databases. Data collection techniques used include the primary data source that is by observation and interviews, while the secondary data source that by looking at the documents. The method used a structured approach and method development using a prototype method, the system development tools such as flow map, context diagram, DFD, and the proposed database design tool in the form of ERD.

The results showed that the sales information system design can assist consumers in accessing information about the company Lubricants.

Keywords: Information Systems, Rental, CV.INTAN MULIA