ABSTRACT

Design is one of the delivery of visual media is very important in this globalization era. The importance of design alone is not only in the field of advertising or sejenisnnya but government agencies are also very important needed a designer, where an institution or government agency itself will provide information to the public. So that the information conveyed by both san right to the public, so the information will be provided which has been prepared by the PR section will be drafted in a design that will work properly and correctly informed.

Central Information Technology Unit-LIPI is sauatu institution / government agency that seeks the implementation in the field of development, information services technology, and library technology. In this hall make it happen has various programs in optimizing services to the community. One is providing food pengelolahan information provided through interactive CD provided in the library. where there are also other storage media such as interactive CD than VCD and others.

So on the occasion of the work performed at this practice has an role in designing the cover of one of the media information provided by the centers that information is, designing the front cover, label and back cover of the CD interactive processing of food and nutrition. Where when it will be the implementation, the most important design concept. Because in designing or designing a cover, but do not just data collection process in order to obtain good results for that agency.

Keyword: Interactive CD cover design of food processing and nutrition.