CHAPTER IV

CONCLUSION AND SUGGESTION

The conclusion and suggestion are also included in the clarification below.

4.1 Conclusion

This report explains about the writer activities in the job training. The writer did the job training at LPPM-ITB and placed in Facilities and Infrastructure Division and at Information System Division, as an editor of research journals. The journals are in English so that it makes the writer easier to do the analysis for the job training report.

This report itself talks about preposition which focused on the to + v-ing preposition. To has been confusing the writer if this type of preposition can be followed by v-ing. Finally, after doing the analysis, the writer can conclude that to can be followed by v-ing if the to itself is part of phrasal verb, part of adjective, and part of noun.

4.2 Suggestion

For Faculty of Letters, it is better to make cooperation and relation with companies or give a suggestion of companies that can be used by the student to apply the job training

For students, they need to find as much information they can get from every resource such as internet, books, magazine to help them during the job training.

For the company, it is expected that the company can make a correction to the job trainer.
