CHAPTER IV

CONCLUSION AND SUGGESTION

4.1. Conclusion

Proverb has the function to give an advice, reprimand, or mock. The proverb reflects the condition or situation in their culture. The value that is contained in the proverb includes a kinship, patience, hard work, exemplary, sincerity, politeness, peace, and others. Whereas the role of proverb is quite important in social life, especially that refer to the use of expression that to convey an advice, reprimand, or mock, which is expressed to others without offending them.

The analysis shows the reflection culture in the proverb used. As example, rice that Indonesians used in their proverbs reflects Indonesian culture because Indonesians really loves rice, so does in Americans with milk because their country loves to consume milk, therefore it affects on language that they used in their proverb.

4.2. Suggestion

After the present writer finished the research of proverb, the present writer suggests to student to read and learn more about proverb because proverb is cultural heritage that should be preserved, than that because the use of proverb also has a lot of advantage in daily life.